

A black and white photograph of a small, weathered wooden schoolhouse. The building has a gabled roof with a metal gutter. A sign above the door reads "CLOVER PASS SCHOOL". The schoolhouse is surrounded by dense foliage, including bushes and trees. The wood on the exterior is peeling and shows signs of age. A door with a small window is on the right side of the front facade, and a window is on the left. The overall scene is rural and somewhat overgrown.
