DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This handsome brick Victorian house, built around 1850, consists of a full basement and two stories, in addition to an attic space. The basement was excavated to just a shallow depth and therefore required front entrance steps of limestone to be incorporated into the architectural design. The exterior walls are brick with brick quoins that emphasize the corners and limestone belt courses that indicate the first and second floor levels. The large, overhanging Italianate style roof cornice is supported by large, graceful, paired brackets which help to conceal the shallow sloped roof. Cast iron attic air vents are well incorporated into the cornice design. The tall, floor -to-ceiling windows in the front facade are embellished above the brick head arches with ornate, bracketed hoods or pediments. This design is repeated above the main entrance door and thus unifies the design with its consistency. The house is located on the north side of an east-west street, and faces south. The land slopes away to the north and exposes slightly more of the basement walls on the north side. The exterior brick walls have been painted; however the original architectural character has been retained. The building, at present, is in a state of good repair and functions well with its adaptive use as law offices. The interiors, with the handsome open stair, have not been altered significantly and they still retain their charm and flavor with their high ceilings and ornate wood trim.
