STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Clarkson Covered Bridge is one of the longest two span covered bridges standing in the Deep South. This massive turn-of-the-century structure is one of only 13 reamining covered bridges in the state, and is the last of eleven such bridges in Cullman County.

The bridge was constructed in 1904 on land donated to the county by the father of W. H. Legg. In 1923 the bridge was damaged by a storm and had to be repaired. Bill Slosler, a contractor from Cullman was hired by the county to repair the bridge. A member of the repair crew, Elton O. Brock recalls that the work began in the fall of 1923 and was finished in the first part of 1924, at a cost of $1,000 to $1,500.

The bridge is one of nine Town type bridges standing in Alabama. The Town bridges, which were built all over the eastern United States, were instigated by a New England promoter, Ithiel Town. Town was granted a patent on this type of truss in 1820. His bridges were built in a lattice style of plans forming a webbing. A genuine American invention the Town truss was a durable bridge which could withstand an unusually large amount of weight.

The bridge is county owned but construction and maintenance of all roads and bridges are the direct responsibility of the Highway Department. The Cullman County Board of Revenue plans to use the bridge and surrounding acreage as a recreational park.
