HISTORY

The stone was used in the present Village Iron Mill. Its outer edge was an old one "water" race in the present Village Iron Mill. The corner is one of the thousand used in the building during the construction of the mill and former used over the gate of the mill after it passed over a row of the structures in which the houses were built.

These walls stand on the foundation of the wood structure constructed in 1940 in which the Village Manufacturing Company commenced operation in 1940.
