National Register of Historic Places Continuation Sheet Section number 7 Page 1_ Narrative Description

Name of Property: Goodin Building County and State: VanBuren County, Iowa

The Goodin Building, located at 106 North Front St. in Farmington, Iowa, was built in 1875 for William Goodin, a prominent, local businessman. The building fronts North Front St. and is across the street from the Des Moines River. It is constructed from a soft type of brick made in Van Buren County. It is a full two-story building constructed in the Late Victorian/Romanesque style, as is the Satterly building next door which shares a

The building has a full basement and a cut limestone foundation. It measures approximately 26'x 91' and has one outside and one inside chimney that rise above a flat roof. The arched windows in both the upper and lower façade are original and still intact. These windows rest on limestone sills. The lower level has two store front entries with a separate entry to the upstairs.

The entrance to the rear of the building is through a double door into what was originally a warehouse, used for stocking a large grocery and general store. This door has been reconfigured and part of the original opening has been bricked over. Some of the windows in the rear of the building on each side of the back entrance have also been covered. The windows on the top level have been reduced in size and have aluminum storms on them.

The interior remains primarily in its original state, although electrical equipment has been added and two bathrooms, one on each floor. A dropped ceiling was added to the two front rooms on the ground level within the last twenty years. The upper meeting hall had some tiles applied to the ceiling and subflooring, but most of these have been removed and original wood ceilings and floors remain. The stairs are constructed of wood with metal embossed plates made by a Keokuk foundry, each of the plates have printed Buckeye Foundry and Machine Shops Reokuk, Iowa. There is a faded painted sign advertising the Goodin Store on the north side of the building.

No additions have been made to the original structure and very little modernization has been incorporated into the building. The entire two story structure is made of brick on a stone foundation. NPS Form 10-900-a

National Register of Historic Places Continuation Sheet

The Goodin Building located at the north end of the 100 block of Front Street in Farmington, Iowa, is locally significant under Criterion C as one of the best surviving examples of late 19th century commercial design in Farmington. Constructed in 1875 this brick building with it's round arched windows and entries exhibits the influence of the Romanesque Revival. The Goodin building shares this architectural style with two other adjoining brick buildings on the same block. There are only a few buildings built in the 19th century that remain in the downtown commercial area. There was a town fire in 1874 that destroyed most of the buildings on Front Street.

The Goodin Building is associated with the community's core of old surviving businesses. William Goodin had the building built for his grocery business, the upper floor was for his family's loving quarters and a large room was put aside the Mt. Moriah Masonic Lodge. William Goodin was on the founding members of the Masonic Hall and an officer.

Records on the Goodin Building have been hard to find. Many of the records have not been kept by local or county government.

The site that the Goodin Building is built on was originally purchased by Abel Galland from the United states Government on Feb.12, 1839 and sold to the town of Farmington by Henry Bateman (who bought the property from Abel Galland) on Feb.21, 1840. On March 18, 1867 the current lot 3 in block 2 on Front Street was purchased by Sophia Leonard, who built the first building on the site. The Leonard building burned in the town fire of 1874.

William Goodin bought the property in 1875 and had the present commercial building built that same year. After William Goodin's death the building was left to his daughter Inez Goodin Kelley on October 17, 1924. Inez Goodin Kelley then sold the property to J.W. Miller, trustee of Mt. Moriah Lodge, Number 27, Farmington, Iowa, for $2200.00 on November 15, 1924.

The Mt. Moriah Lodge was not required by law to pay taxes on the property. The Lodge was chartered in June of 1851 as Lodge #9, the Lodge was later reinstated as Lodge #27.

The Mt. Moriah Lodge sold the property to Raymond E. Holland and Helen L. Holland on July 10th, 1981. The Hollands used the property for commercial use as a chain saw and lawnmower repair shop until they sold the property to the present owners, Gerald and Amber Cochenour in 1998.

The present use of the Goodin Building is for commercial use by the present owner, Gerald Cochenour, who has a heating and cooling business located on the ground floor. The upper floor is not presently in use.

Future plans for the building, is to renovate the upper floor for an apartment, or meeting hall to be used for community events.
