

Pueblo Grande Ruin and Irrigation Sites
View of interpretive trail and observation towers on ruin

Vicinity of Phoenix, Arizona

NPS Photo 1975

Pueblo Grande Ruin and Irrigation Sites
View of new (1974) museum building and main ruin (to right).
Grand Canal in foreground.

Vicinity of Phoenix, Arizona

NPS Photo 1975

Aerial view of Turkey Creek Village in process of excavation. Photo by Arizona State Museum.

Excavated canal in Park of the Four Waters, showing clay liner which retained water from gravel stratum. (Pueblo Grande photo and negative).

Canal remains in Park of the Four Waters. (NPS photo; negative in Southwestern Regional Office).

Rock walls of garden terraces north of Sacaton. (NPS photo; negative in Southwestern Regional Office).