

The city of Natchez, Mississippi, is noted for its formal antebellum houses, many of which are open to view by the public. Stanton Hall, shown here, was originally one of the most palatial mansions in the city. The mansion has been converted to a tourist attraction. There is a restaurant in the courtyard. (Photo No. 59-22957)

Stanton Hall, Natchez, Mississippi

NPS Photo 1973