Aerial view of Wahaula temple site after construction of interpretive trails. Looking makai, toward the ocean.
Makaopuhi lava flow covering portion of Chain of Craters road. Many archeological sites have been destroyed by such lava flows in recent times.
Keauhou landing is an important site in connection with the ranching and pulu harvesting periods. The stone walled enclosures and house site are mostly late historic. Some sites in the vicinity are of prehistoric age. Looking toward Halape from Keauhou.
